What is PROS?

Personalized Recovery Oriented Services is a comprehensive, psychiatric rehabilitation program for individuals with mental illness.

It's a new way for people on the path of recovery to begin their journey of looking at the life they want to live.

Through participation in an individualized and person-centered menu of clinical, educational, and employment services, people begin to see hope for, perhaps, the first time. We're here to help people realize their goals and dreams, and live the life they've always wanted to live.

FAQs

- What if I'm not sure whether groups are right for me? New enrollments receive a two week Orientation / Engagement schedule. During that time, participants will meet members of the PROS team, learn more about individual program services, audit current groups, assess and receive feedback whether the group modality is beneficial to supporting your therapeutic needs.
- Can I attend the PROS program and use other clinical providers at the same time? Yes, however this may limit some of the service options in PROS, since services cannot be duplicated. Individuals can continue to receive clinical services (psychiatric, medication and counseling) from their current provider. Although PROS does offer clinical services, the program also offers other services to help people get and stay well, to achieve goals, and/or go to work or school.
- How often would I have to attend PROS? Participants don't need to attend every day, all day. Generally, students attend program anywhere from two to five days a week. Participants should plan to spend at least two hours per week in services.
